Fund and Market Commentary

During July, the Bloomberg AusBond Cash Benchmark returned 0.15% while the Alpha Diversified Income Fund outperformed the benchmark by 0.33%. So far, the Fund has gathered limited return history and therefore no comment can yet be made about its long-term performance.

United States (US) economic data stayed solid with the economy growing at an annualized 2.6% in the June quarter. Non-farm payrolls increased by 209,000 and the unemployment rate fell by 0.1% to 4.3% in July. In spite of the economy being close to full employment, wage growth remained sluggish lowering discretionary spending power. The headline inflation rate published in July was 1.7% year-on-year, which has been gradually declining over a number of months. The modest inflation rate is becoming an increasing concern to the Federal Reserve (FED). Following the latest Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) meeting, the FED kept the policy rate on hold at a range of 1%-1.25%. US Treasury Notes were in demand with yields on two year Note falling three basis points to 1.349% and ten year Treasury Notes decreasing one basis point to 2.294%. In contrast, demand for Australian government bonds was soft with two year Government bond yields rising six basis points to 1.791%, while the ten year bond jumped eight basis points to 2.678%.

The Eurozone economy continues to steadily improve, at a faster pace of expansion, while the inflation rate is still below the European Central Bank's (ECB) target rate of 2% at 1.3% year-on-year in July. Even though there is very little chance of the ECB raising interest rates, it is widely expected that the bank will taper the bond-buying program in the coming months. Within the Eurozone, the performance of sovereign bonds was mixed with German ten year yields rising eight basis points to 0.543%, while demand of Italian ten year bond was strong with yields six basis points lower at 2.094% despite ongoing Italian political risks.

Considering the prospects for assets beyond short-term volatility, our preference is to take a longer term approach to the markets. This does not mean we are not actively managing the Fund. To the contrary, the structure of our Fund is always reflective of our current assessment of market risk. In structuring the Alpha Diversified Fixed Income Fund, Alpha Fund Managers seek to select managers demonstrating a proven track record in managing risk and generating long-term outperformance. These managers are then blended to create portfolios that can achieve consistent, absolute and relative performances, irrespective of where we are in the market cycle.

About Alpha Fund Managers

Alpha Fund Managers' investment philosophy is based on the premise that there are particular investment managers that have the ability to consistently generate "alpha" over the medium to long-term, and through all financial market cycles irrespective of any style bias (growth vs. value, large cap vs. small cap, etc.). "Alpha" in this context is defined as an investment manager's unique ability to select a portfolio of securities that differs from and outperforms its benchmark on a risk-adjusted basis. In other words, it is an investment manager's ability to beat the index. Alpha Fund Managers' investment process is based on a balanced approach to quantitative and qualitative research and analysis techniques to assess and select the underlying investment managers in each Alpha Fund Series fund. Alpha Fund Managers seek to add value by selecting investment managers who demonstrate a high-level of investment conviction, unique investment processes and a proven record in managing risk and generating long-term "alpha" over full market cycle. Alpha Fund Managers then blend these managers to create portfolios that can achieve consistent, absolute and relative performances, irrespective of where we are in the market cycle.
