

Alpha Australian Blue Chip Equities - Snapshot

Morningstar Category: Australia Fund Equity Australia Large Growth
 Inception Date: 2/04/2007

Fund and Market Commentary

The S&P/ASX300 Accumulation Index rose by 3.28% during March with the Alpha Australian Blue Chip Fund lagging the benchmark. Better performing sectors were Utilities and Health Care, while Materials and Telecom Services underperformed. Since inception, the Fund has achieved outperformance relative to the benchmark.

Australian equities were not overly affected by global Macro factors and the shifting political outlook within the United States (US), extending gains through March and performed well relative to global equity markets. The Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) has reported an unexpected increase in the unemployment rate from 5.7% to 5.9%, with policy makers already concerned about the real strength of the labour market given previous employment growth was mainly driven by part-time jobs. Retail turnover rose 0.1% month on month, bringing the total annualised increase to 2.9%. Commodity prices stayed relatively high and have been stabilising backed by the recent high price of iron ore, one of Australia's major exports, which fell 1.40 % in March. The Reserve Bank of Australia continued to hold the cash rate at 1.5%, while the US Federal Open Market Committee raised the federal funds rate by 25 basis points to 1%.

The China Caixin Purchasing Managers' Index fell from February's 52.6 to 52.2 in March, indicating an expansion in Chinese manufacturing economy but at a moderate rate. The increase in spending on infrastructure and continuous growth of China, Australia's major trading partner, contributes to a rise in Australia's national income.

Considering the prospects for assets beyond short-term volatility, our preference is to take a longer term approach to the markets. This does not mean we are not actively managing the fund. To the contrary, the structure of our fund is always reflective of our current assessment of market risk. In structuring the fund, Alpha Fund Managers seek to select high-quality managers and blend these managers to create portfolios that can achieve consistent absolute and relative performances, irrespective of where we are in the market cycle.

Investment Objective

The Alpha Blue Chip Fund aims to outperform the S&P/ASX 300 Accumulation Index (after fund fees and expenses, and before taxes) over rolling 3 to 5 year periods. The fund invests predominantly in a diversified portfolio of large market capitalisation Australian shares.

Alpha Fund Managers seek to achieve this objective by the blending of a small number of high conviction (not closet index) investment managers, each with a different investment process, in a complementary manner so as to produce consistent outperformance with similar or less risk than the benchmark.

About Alpha Fund Managers

Alpha Fund Managers' investment philosophy is based on the premise that there are particular investment managers that have the ability to consistently generate "alpha" over the medium to long-term, and through all financial market cycles irrespective of any style bias (growth vs. value, large cap vs. small cap, etc.). "Alpha" in this context is defined as an investment manager's unique ability to select a portfolio of securities that differs from and outperforms its benchmark on a risk-adjusted basis. In other words, it is an investment manager's ability to beat the index. Alpha Fund Managers' investment process is based on a balanced approach to quantitative and qualitative research and analysis techniques to assess and select the underlying investment managers in each Alpha Fund Series fund. Alpha Fund Managers seek to add value by selecting investment managers who demonstrate a high-level of investment conviction, unique investment processes and a proven record in managing risk and generating long-term "alpha" over full market cycle. Alpha Fund Managers then blend these managers to create portfolios that can achieve consistent, absolute and relative performances, irrespective of where we are in the market cycle.
