Fund and Market Commentary

The S&P/ASX Small Ordinaries Accumulation Index rose 2.66% in March while the Alpha Small Companies Fund lagged. The best sector performance came from Utilities and Health Care, while Materials and Telecom Services underperformed. Since inception, the Fund has consistently outperformed its benchmark.

Australian equities were not overly affected by global Macro factors and the shifting political outlook within the United States (US), extending gains through March and performed well relative to global equity markets. The Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) has reported an unexpected increase in the unemployment rate from 5.7% to 5.9%, with policy makers already concerned about the real strength of the labour market given previous employment growth was mainly driven by part-time jobs. Retail turnover rose 0.1% month on month and the total annualised increase was 2.9%. Commodity prices stayed relatively high and have been stabilising backed by recent high price of iron ore, one of Australia's major exports, which fell 1.40 % in March. The Reserve Bank of Australia continued to hold the cash rate at 1.5%, while the US Federal Open Market Committee raised the federal funds rate by 25 basis points to 1%. This increase will lead to higher Australian bank funding costs since the banks source around 40% funds from overseas, and will be passed through to Australian investors accordingly. The Australian Dollar (AUD) dropped 0.57% ending the month at 0.7644 US dollars.

The China Caixin Purchasing Managers' Index fell from February's 52.6 to 52.2 in March, indicating an expansion in Chinese manufacturing economy but at a moderate rate. The increase in spending on infrastructure and continuous growth of China contributes to a rise in Australia's national income.

In structuring the Alpha Small Companies Fund, Alpha Fund Managers seek to select managers demonstrating a proven track record in managing risk and generating long-term outperformance. Alpha Fund Managers blend these managers to create portfolios that can achieve consistent, absolute and relative performances, irrespective of where we are in the market cycle.

Investment Objective

The Alpha Australian Small Companies Fund may exhibit a relatively 'benchmark unaware' process in pursuit of superior returns, i.e. the fund may not invest into stocks just because they are in the benchmark, thus the composition and returns of the portfolio may deviate significantly from that of the benchmark.

Alpha Fund Managers seek to achieve this objective in each of the Alpha Funds by the blending of a small number of high conviction investment managers, each with a different investment process. This is done so in a complementary manner, so as to produce consistent outperformance with similar or less risk than the benchmark.

About Alpha Fund Managers

Alpha Fund Managers' investment philosophy is based on the premise that there are particular investment managers that have the ability to consistently generate "alpha" over the medium to long-term, and through all financial market cycles irrespective of any style bias (growth vs. value, large cap vs. small cap, etc.). "Alpha" in this context is defined as an investment manager's unique ability to select a portfolio of securities that differs from and outperforms its benchmark on a risk-adjusted basis. In other words, it is an investment manager's ability to beat the index. Alpha Fund Managers' investment process is based on a balanced approach to quantitative and qualitative research and analysis techniques to assess and select the underlying investment managers in each Alpha Fund Series fund. Alpha Fund Managers seek to add value by selecting investment managers who demonstrate a high-level of investment conviction, unique investment processes and a proven record in managing risk and generating long-term "alpha" over full market cycles. Alpha Fund Managers then blend these managers to create portfolios that can achieve consistent, absolute and relative performances, irrespective of where we are in the market cycle.
